

Broadcast companies owe it to their public to maintain a modicum of impartiality. Sinclair Broadcasting's amazing decision to insist that their the anti-Kerry documentary be shown--especially so close to the election--is a terrifying example of what unbridled media consolidation can bring.

It is the responsibility of the FCC to protect the public from such abuse. Please carefully consider your actions toward this end.